U. S. Government Opens War on Gamblers in Four Cities at the Same Hour.

PREUSSER ONE DEFENDANT

Is the Broker Who Killed Miles McDonald of Boston in Ten Eyck at Albany.

NEW YORK, April 2.—The opera house was a racket when the U. S. government raided the bucket shops in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New London, Md., at the stroke of the hour, yesterday. The raid was the first of a series of bucket shop raids in the United States. The government is determined to wipe out the bucket shop business, which has been a source of great trouble to the government for many years. The bucket shop is a place where gamblers bet on the outcome of horse races. The bucket shop is a place where gamblers bet on the outcome of horse races. TAINTED BY FALL

Five Hundred at Waltham See A. A. Merrill Plunge to Ground With Glider.

Five hundred men and women got a thrill at a glider contest in Waltham yesterday afternoon which every citizen in the land would gladly reproduce. A. A. Merrill, a Boston aviator, one of the judges of the contest, was the principal. The contest proper had concluded and Mr. Merrill took his place on the frame of the successful glider, one entered by the boys of Boston, York. The six men out on the ends of the tow line snatched up at his command and up, like a bird went the big kite. "Let 'er go," called Merrill. They did. He kept on erecting until for a couple of seconds and then the glider got cranked. Merrill was forty feet up. He avoided the trees and then in a roundabout series of turns descended. He had a great run and then he landed. He had a great run and then he landed. He had a great run and then he landed.

NOTHING SUCCESSFUL LIKE HEALTH

THE KEYSTONE TO HEALTH IS HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

Good health is essential to success in life and it is the privilege of most everyone to possess it. Sometimes, however, you allow disease to gain a foothold and you suffer from Stomach, Liver, Kidney or Bowel Ills. It is then that prompt attention should be given, for delay only brings on that sure handicap—Sickness. The way to cure such ailments is to remove the cause and the best medicine to do this is

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

GET WELL AGAIN

If you are one of the thousands who are struggling under the handicap of poor health, don't become despondent and discouraged; your case is not entirely helpless; just cheer up—take a short course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and notice the improvement in your general health. It will strengthen your weak stomach, give appetite, make the digestion and assimilation perfect, keep the bowels free from constipation, the liver and kidneys active, and then—pleasant thought, no more Heartburn, Belching, Headache, Gas on Stomach, Smothering Spells, Indigestion, Costiveness, Biliousness, Dyspepsia or Vomiting. It has been doing this particular work for 67 years, so you really ought to try a bottle today and be convinced of its merit.

IT IS A TONIC and invigorant of rare virtue, and in convalescence you will find it a splendid aid. In fact, it is a safe medicine that can be taken by anyone with gratifying results. In cases of Malaria, Fever and Ague it has also proven very effective.

A FEW LETTERS OF PROOF:

Mr. Thomas H. Halloran, Newport, Ky., writes: "I have taken your Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and been greatly benefited. I always recommend it for stomach trouble."

Dr. H. H. Davis, Louisville, Miss., writes: "I frequently prescribe Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in convalescence with splendid results. Mr. Jacob Hays, Bangor, Wis., writes: "I find nothing does me so much good as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for stomach complaints. It never fails."

Remember Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is sold only in bottles—never in bulk—and each bottle has our Private Stamp over the neck. Refuse all others. The genuine is for sale by all druggists and general dealers.

NEW MILK LAW TO GO IN EFFECT MAY 1

Historians will not be permitted, on and after May 1, to take their own milk jars, cans or any form of receptacle to the grocer's. They will be permitted to take the keuper to be permitted to pour out milk in cans or crockery jars, according to the new milk laws of the Board of Health.

The Board of Health has decreed that, in the interest of health, all retailers must deliver milk in "original packages," or in cans or crockery jars which are sealed by storekeepers and poured in cans for sale. They must be sold just as they receive them from the producers.

It is not to be expected that such a hardship will befall the milkman, who is accustomed to pour people. At present they can buy two cents' worth of milk in cans. When the law becomes operative they will be compelled to buy a quart in an "original package" for four cents.

HOW TO FIND OUT

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling usually indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. Too frequent desire to urinate, scanty supply, pain or dull ache in the back, should also convince you that the kidneys or bladder are out of order.

What to Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, fulfills almost every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold urine, and scalding pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, and a book that tells all about it. Address the publisher, C. O. Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in the Boston Sunday American. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Much Less Than Cost

Right when the season was at its height, when the fixtures and shelves were laden with new Spring merchandise, the warehouses and showrooms of the most progressive importers of upholstery goods in Boston, the Maurice F. Horan Co. was visited by a disastrous fire. The entire first floor was completely gutted, destroying thousands of dollars' worth of upholstery. As the fire was confined wholly to the first floor, the $75,000 stocks on the second and third floors were mostly damaged by smoke and water. Tomorrow morning, in connection with our Grand Hotel and Restaurant Sale, we will offer this stock (damaged only slightly, as stated above) at prices never before heard of, we believe, in a retail store. Goods on sale positively below wholesale and importers' cost. A rare opportunity this, for hotel and restaurant people.

ing to suffer a setback. In three applications, I stopped the intense itching of my scalp and I was very short time later, my scalp stopped itching, but I continued to lose my hair, and my hair continued to fall out in one month my hair was longer, thicker and more beautiful than ever. Due to this marvelous hair growth rate. A lady to whom I gave the formula told me her daughter told her she made her hair grow five inches in less than a month. Doctors to whom I have shown it say it is the only thing which will actually grow new hair.

At first I thought I would keep it a secret and sell the secret, but when I think how I suffered and how badly I needed it and how hundreds of others just lived the same as I did, I feel I owe it to give it to the world.

I enclose and authorize this paper to publish the formula, which is as follows:

Bay Rum 6 oz. Lemon Oil 2 teaspoon 2 oz. Menthol Crystals 1 dr. To-Kalon Perfume one to two teaspoonfuls

Ask your druggist for an 8 oz. bottle

The Juices of Meats.—The use of meat juices is not so general as it should be. In the preparation of a roast, a piece of fat is usually placed at the top, and a small quantity of water is poured over the meat. This is done to keep the meat from becoming too dry, and to prevent the fat from burning. The juices of the meat, however, are not only lost, but the meat itself becomes less palatable. A better method is to place a piece of fat at the bottom of the roasting pan, and to pour a small quantity of water over the meat. This will keep the meat moist, and the fat will not burn. The juices of the meat will then be preserved, and the meat will be more palatable.

containing 6 oz. of Rhy Rum, then pour in the Menthol Crystals and the Perfume. Next add one-half of the bottle of Lavona de Composee, let it stand six to eight hours and add the remainder of the Lavona de Composee. Always buy the Lavona de Composee in a two oz. sealed jar, as this preparation contains the juice of the Ecuador herb mentioned above, and it loses its strength if unsealed.

Apply the preparation night and morning and rub well into the scalp. If pro-

JULIA WARD HOWE TO SHOW WOMEN HOW TO RUN HOMES

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe and her granddaughter.

Her Ambition Now Is to Promote Study of Applied Economics Among Women

A remarkable plan, said Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, to show women how to run homes, is being carried out by the Boston Society for the Study of Applied Economics. The plan is to have a series of lectures and demonstrations on the subject of home management, to be given by Mrs. Howe and her granddaughter, Miss Julia Ward Howe.

The lectures will be given on the following subjects: The Science of Home Management, The Art of Home Management, The Economics of Home Management, and The Psychology of Home Management.

CHURCHES OF BOSTON MADE BIG GAINS IN PAST YEAR

Membership Figures Show 373,000 Catholics and 68,355 of Protestant Faiths.

FIGURES show that the churches of Boston have made a big gain in membership in the past year. It is estimated that the number of Catholics in the city has increased from 373,000 in 1909 to 385,000 in 1910. The Protestant churches have also made a gain, with the total membership increasing from 68,355 in 1909 to 70,000 in 1910.

The increase in membership is attributed to a number of factors, including the growth of the Catholic population and the efforts of the Protestant churches to attract new members. The Catholic population has grown steadily over the years, and the Protestant churches have been successful in attracting new members through various programs and activities.

The figures show that the churches of Boston are continuing to grow and attract new members. This is a testament to the efforts of the clergy and the dedication of the members. The growth in membership is a sign of the vitality of the churches and their ability to adapt to the needs of the community.

The increase in membership is a significant achievement for the churches of Boston. It shows that the churches are still relevant and important to the community. The growth in membership is a reflection of the faith and devotion of the members and the leadership of the clergy.

ADJUSTO ROYAL WORCESTER ADJUSTO CORSETS

ARE Making Thousands of Friends every day everywhere. Stout women, average, and even those of slender build, are all wearing this tremendously popular corset.

The ADJUSTO is designed to promote symmetry where stoutness prevails—to flatten and reduce abdomen and hips—to subdue prominent curves—to mould all excess flesh and distribute it equally—to effectually support the form and give it proper poise—to form the correct base for the fashionable gowns—to create and preserve the ideal contour. Truly a marvelous corset. TRY A PAIR TO-DAY.

PRICE $3

Don't be misled by believing there is any other reducing device equal to this magical ADJUSTO. It is fully protected by patents and can be obtained only in the genuine.

ADJUSTO CORSET

Absolutely the only known corset attachment with which one may reduce and mould the abdomen and hips in perfect comfort and hygienic safety. And further, these ingenious little bands can be tightened or loosened (without removing corset) to suit the wearer's convenience. Non-slip buckles and bands lie smooth and flat, and are instantly adjustable. Insist upon having the ADJUSTO

TWO AUTO MEASURES WILL BE FAVORABLY REPORTED

Warning Signals Will Only Have to Be Sounded When Necessary in New Law.

By J. C. KEILSON

It really does seem that the Boston Automobile Association is in a hurry to get its new law passed, and will throw all but these two into the wind.

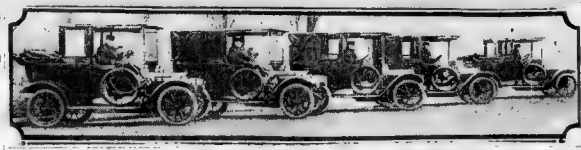

The favorable reports of the committee on the new law, which will be in effect in the summer of 1911, will be in the hands of the legislature by the time the new law is passed. It is expected that the new law will be in effect in the summer of 1911.

The present requirements of the law are not so strict as those of the new law. The new law will require that all automobiles be equipped with a horn, and that the horn be sounded when necessary. The new law will also require that all automobiles be equipped with a bell, and that the bell be rung when necessary. The new law will also require that all automobiles be equipped with a light, and that the light be on when necessary.

Regarding Mechanical Horses. Mechanically operated horses, and those operated by battery connection, have come to be most common, and to be highly regarded. This car would cost $5000 if our Business Methods were Loose

Many a buyer infers that if the price is high the car must be good. And, conversely, that any car at a lower price is not quite so good.

The buyer who thinks that does him self the worst. Because he "pays too much for his whiffle."

Price never makes quality. To be sure, you can't get $3000 quality for $735. The proposition is deeper than that.

We have proved that a six-cylinder car of ample power and of first quality in every respect can be marketed at $3000. And still return us a reasonable profit.

Yet this price is from $1000 to $2000 lower than is asked for cars of similar power and size, made by other celebrated makers.

The inference is, sometimes (when the buyer doesn't know the facts) that the quality of the Winton Six isn't quite all we claim, and that the car must lack something, else we would ask as much as other makers do.

But the actual fact is that these other makers would be only too glad to reduce their prices to the Winton Six figure of $3000, if they could.

Because we have a tremendous selling advantage in our price.

When a prospect once knows what the Winton Six is and what it does, there isn't an earthly chance for a competitor to sell him another car at a higher price.

But these other makers can't equal our quality at our price. Because we have advantages which they lack.

The Winton Company has had years more experience than any other maker. Has been making cars exclusively longer than any other maker. The only high-grade house whose prudent in its manufacturing head. The only high-grade company owning its own plant and equipment, free from debt and heavy interest charges. A company that cuts out racing, touring and "stage" expenses. That has no water in its stock. A company that avoids marble-front expenses on automobile. That avoids waste and red tape in its management. That saves for cash and takes the cash discount.

These are Winton advantages, and Winton Six buyers get the benefit.

When you buy other makes at high prices, you pay for extravagances and extraordinary expenses that do not help the quality of such cars a single particle.

Consequently, when you pay more than $3000 for a car of power and quality similar to the 48 horse power Winton Six, don't imagine that you are getting that much better car.

For you can prove that idea false by putting the Winton Six in the test alongside the car you prefer.

On the contrary, you can figure the difference in price, and say: "I am paying this difference of, say, $1500 additional to the Winton Company for the extravagant expenses, the marble-front extravagance, the stage expenses, the water in its stock, the waste and red tape in its management. That buys for cash and takes the cash discount."

Just are the Winton Six for yourself at our branch house, Berkeley and Stanhope Sts. The Winton Motor Carriage Co. Licensed Motor Salesmen

NEW SHOWS APLENTY AS MANAGERS SMILE AND OPERA CLOSES

"Man of the Hour," "Yankee Prince," Blanche Bates, "Boys of Company B" and "McFadden's Flats" Among the Attractions to Open To-morrow—"Old Dutch," "Harvest Moon" and "Billie Burke Hold Over."

By FELIX ST. CLAIR

THE opera is over. It is a thing of the past. The people who wear their hats and coats and gloves and who go to the opera house to see the best things in the world, are gone.

In the meantime the theatre managers are smiling. They are smiling because they have seen the future. They have seen the future in the eyes of the people who are going to the theatre to see the new shows. They have seen the future in the eyes of the people who are going to the theatre to see the new shows.

Now, however, with no competition, the managers are wondering whether it would be a good idea to extend the season. They are wondering whether it would be a good idea to extend the season. They are wondering whether it would be a good idea to extend the season.

Tomorrow will be a busy day. At the Boston Theatre there will be "Man of the Hour," "Yankee Prince" and "Boys of Company B." At the Clark Square Theatre there will be "McFadden's Flats." At the Grand Opera House there will be "Old Dutch," "Harvest Moon" and "Billie Burke Hold Over."

The show of general interest is at the Boston Theatre, where there is a long and a short. It is a long and a short. It is a long and a short. It is a long and a short.

Blanche Bates is different now. She is different now. She is different now. She is different now. She is different now. She is different now. She is different now.

George M. Cohan will enter into competition with himself this week, when "Yankee Prince" comes to the Boston Theatre. It is a long and a short. It is a long and a short. It is a long and a short.

Here two weeks ago the people who came to see the new show before it had been a week. They had been a week. They had been a week. They had been a week.

TEATRIZZI TO THE RESCUE
"Isn't it terrible?" he asked. "Teatrizzi's sister is very ill and in pain. Teatrizzi has to go right off to see her. He has to go right off to see her. He has to go right off to see her."

"A Yankee Prince" will be a long and a short. It is a long and a short. It is a long and a short. It is a long and a short.

"The Man of the Hour" is a long and a short. It is a long and a short. It is a long and a short. It is a long and a short.

When Lee Phelps as a Dutch inventor in "Old Dutch" arrives at the hotel where he expects to find the several scenes on the road, it is as popular as ever. The company at the Globe is an excellent one. The story of the play is well known. It deals with politics and love and the election of a reform mayor.

YES, "OLD DUTCH" IS FUNNY.
There are many funny situations, and the whole thing has an impossible air because of the presence of the gaily girls and other improbabilities, but when you stop to think it is quite a natural situation. Suppose you went to a city where you were not known and while there lost your money and means of identification. What do you do? You would have to go to the police and they would turn you up with all your property and said he was you. Isn't it likely that everybody would believe him and you would go into the jail?

Anyway, that's what happens in "Old Dutch." The fields don't care so many chorin girls as him as he sends out with his tenor companions. "The Midnight Sons" and "The Jolly Bachelors." It is just as well. When chorin girls number more than fifty they are too numerous for one evening's entertainment, according to a friend of mine.

It's so, and it can prove it. "Supposing you devote one minute to studying each girl. If there are fifty you can do so easily and still find time to listen to the music and catch the jokes. But if there are one hundred and fifty, you cannot give each girl more than a tenth part of the attention she is entitled to, and it is very disturbing."

TRITON Lachry declares that it is the women who are responsible for the prosperity of immoral plays. The woman selects the show and always picks out the most immoral one and the poor man obliges her. But the man is the one who is responsible for the prosperity of immoral plays. The woman selects the show and always picks out the most immoral one and the poor man obliges her.

ALAN DALE GIVES MRS. FISKE PRAISE

She Has Mastered Her Mastication of English Language, Declares Noted Critic.

By ALAN DALE

NEW YORK, April 2.—It is a rare thing to find a critic who is not only a master of his own language, but who is also a master of the language of the people. Alan Dale, the noted critic, has just given Mrs. Fiske the highest praise that can be bestowed upon an actress. He has declared that she has mastered her mastication of the English language, and that she is a true artist. This is a high compliment, for Mrs. Fiske is one of the most famous actresses of the day. She has been playing the role of the Countess in the play "The Countess" for many years, and she has always been praised for her perfect command of the English language. Alan Dale's praise of Mrs. Fiske is a tribute to her art and to her mastery of the English language.

FIEDLER HAS FINAL SYMPHONY PROGRAM

Beethoven Is Feature of the Last Concert of the Present Season.

Mr. Fiedler has arranged for the presentation of a special symphony program. The program is the last of the present season, and it is a fitting tribute to the great composer, Beethoven. The program includes the Ninth Symphony, which is the most famous of Beethoven's works. It is a masterpiece of music, and it is a pleasure to hear it performed by Mr. Fiedler and his orchestra. The concert will be held at the Symphony Hall, and it is expected to be a very successful one.

GOOD STORIES OF THE STAGE

NEW YORK, April 2.—The story of the stage is a long and interesting one. It is a story of the struggles of the actors and actresses, of the triumphs of the great plays, and of the lives of the people who have made the stage what it is today. The story of the stage is a story of the human spirit, and it is a story that has inspired generations of people. The stage is a place where the human spirit is free to express itself, and it is a place where the human spirit can find its true home. The story of the stage is a story that is as old as the world, and it is a story that will continue to be told for many years to come.

COMING EVENTS

For a full list of the coming events, see the list on page 2D. The list includes the names of the actors and actresses, the names of the plays, and the dates of the performances. It is a comprehensive list of all the events that are taking place in the theatre world at the present time.

TERRIBLE DOMESTIC SUIT CASE MYSTERY

Robert Hillard Carls Home Li-Wie and Actress Get H. Clothing Outfit.

Robert Hillard Carls, the actor, has been the victim of a terrible domestic mystery. He has been accused of stealing a clothing outfit from his home. The outfit was worth a large sum of money, and it was a very valuable one. The mystery has been a great scandal, and it has caused a great deal of talk in the theatre world. Robert Hillard Carls has denied the charges, and he has said that he is innocent of the crime. The mystery has not been solved yet, and it is expected that it will continue to be a topic of discussion for some time to come.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

There is a great deal of interest in the theatre world at the present time. There are many new plays being produced, and there are many new actors and actresses appearing on the stage. The theatre world is a very exciting one, and it is a place where the human spirit is free to express itself. The theatre is a place where the human spirit can find its true home, and it is a place where the human spirit can be inspired. The theatre is a place where the human spirit is free to express itself, and it is a place where the human spirit can find its true home.

TALLY 15 PER CENT. FOR CHORUS BEAUTY

Voice Counts Fifty Per Cent. and Figure and Grace Make-Up Rest.

How can a chorus be made up of beautiful women? The answer is simple: by giving them a 15 per cent. allowance for chorus beauty. This allowance is given to the chorus members for their voice, figure, and grace. It is a very important allowance, and it is one that should not be overlooked. The chorus is a very important part of a play, and it is one that should be given the same respect and consideration as the main cast.

THE REASONS:

It is not only the best show in the city, but it is the best that has been presented here in years.

It is so clear, so wholesome and original in construction, so distinctly different from everything gone before, so thoroughly entertaining, elaborately presented as to light and scenic effects.

EVERYBODY

Who sees it feels in duty bound to tell their friends: hence the

PROTESTANT WRITES ABOUT SERVICES BY MISSION PRIEST

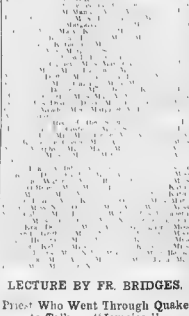

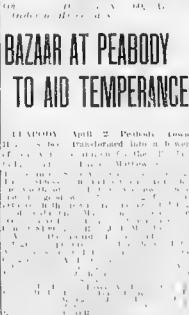

Tells of Impressions on Rites in Cathedral

A Protestant writer, who has been in the city for some time, has written a series of articles in the Boston Herald, describing the services of the mission priest, Rev. John J. Connelley, in the cathedral. The writer, who is a member of the Protestant church, writes that he has been deeply impressed by the services of the mission priest, and that he has been able to see the value of the mission priest's work in the cathedral.

Others Sail Seas of Bliss.

Post-Lenten nuptials have been the prevailing interest of the season and, added to the other social activities, have succeeded in giving Easter week an air of notable festivity, for there have been several couples who have taken occasion to launch out upon the matrimonial sea. These are Miss Davenport and Mr. Aldrich and Miss Webster and Mr. Whitney. These unions are, of course, among the happiest occasions of the season and add just the proper proportion of zest and variety to the social calendar.

Strive 'Til You Thrive.
If you want to be stronger, pick out something hard, Force isn't developed by cutting through lard, Your knife gets an edge when it's ground against stone, Your dog's teeth are sharpened by gnawing the bone, Tenacity grows and sagacity shows In the midst of the strife and the thick of the blows; Get up and get out and take part in the fight; Strike to left and to right With your main and your might; Keep trying, keep trying, and challenge the rest; Stand up to the best; Go through a real test; You can't tell what power you really possess Unless You strive 'Til you thrive.

Notes for Investors

RESTLESS TRADERS CAUSE OF FLURRIES

Eruptions in Stocks No Indication of Conditions, Merely Reflecting Activity of Professionals

By DOERSIANER

There is a general feeling of uneasiness in the financial markets, but it is not a reflection of the underlying conditions. The fluctuations in the stock market are merely the result of the activity of professional traders. The market is restless, but there is no indication of a general decline or a significant change in the economic outlook. The prices of various stocks are fluctuating, but this is normal for a market of this size. Investors should not be alarmed by the daily ups and downs. The fundamental strength of the country remains intact, and the government's policies are sound. The market will continue to be volatile, but it will eventually find its level. The key is to remain calm and not to be swayed by the temporary fluctuations. The long-term trend is positive, and the market will eventually reflect the true value of the underlying assets.

HISTORIAN OF NORTH END TELLS SECRET OF REVERE'S RIDE

The North End historian, Mr. [Name], has revealed the secret of the famous Revere's ride. According to his account, the ride was not as dramatic as it is often portrayed. Revere did not ride alone, and the route he took was not the one commonly believed. The historian provides a detailed description of the events, including the weather, the state of the roads, and the reactions of the people. The story is a fascinating glimpse into a pivotal moment in American history. The historian's research is based on extensive archival work and interviews with local residents. His findings challenge many of the popular myths surrounding the ride. The historian's work is a valuable contribution to the understanding of this important event. The story is told in a clear and engaging manner, making it accessible to a wide audience. The historian's account is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of Boston and the American Revolution.

EDWARD LA MOTTE, to WHO REVEALS HISTORY OF 1775

Edward La Motte, a prominent historian, has written a book that reveals the hidden history of 1775. The book provides a detailed account of the events leading up to the American Revolution, from the early protests to the final battle. La Motte's research is based on a wealth of primary sources, including letters, diaries, and official documents. His book offers a new perspective on the events of 1775, highlighting the role of ordinary people and the complexities of the situation. The book is a valuable addition to the literature on the American Revolution. La Motte's writing is clear and compelling, making the book a popular read. The book is available in paperback and hardcover. The publisher is [Name]. The book is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of the United States.

LYNN COAL COMBINE STARTS PRICE WAR

The Lynn coal combine has started a price war, leading to a significant drop in coal prices. The combine, which controls a large portion of the coal supply in the area, has decided to lower its prices in order to gain a competitive edge. This move has caused a stir in the market, as other coal suppliers are forced to follow suit. The price war is expected to continue for some time, as the combine looks to solidify its position. The drop in prices is a relief for consumers, but it also raises concerns about the long-term stability of the coal industry. The price war is a classic example of the power of a monopoly. The combine's actions have led to a more competitive market, which is in the best interests of the public. The price war is a positive development for the coal industry and the economy as a whole.

BISHOP QUENTIN ON WAY TO VISIT POPE

Bishop Quentin is on his way to visit the Pope in Rome. The bishop's visit is a significant event, as it represents the strengthening of ties between the American and Italian churches. Civilization Means Peace.

And the United States, in Leading the World in the Peace Movement, Is Fulfilling the Highest Duty of a Nation.

cles in the way of an aggressive and effective naval programme

The Hague Tribunal has settled much international difference. By an extension of its functions it can be made vastly more useful. The world must be policed as well-governed cities are policed today. And nations governed as in Boston, by a lawless crowd of aristocrats eager to extend the power of their country because by so doing they will extend their own powers, must be as forcibly held in check as are outlaws and bandits among men.

That old fomenter of war, race prejudice, is gradually dying out among men. The power of kings has been curtailed. Differences between rulers, differences that were wholly or partly personal—once a whole nation to war and called for the sacrifice of thousands of lives whose owners had not the slightest reason to quarrel with one another. The power of kings has been reduced sufficiently to stop that kind of warfare. And the intelligence of human beings has advanced to such a point that never more would the ambition of one man, however great, be permitted to upset the peace of the world, as in the case of Napoleon Bonaparte.

Patriotism does not demand war unless it is a war of independence. The true American patriot demands that his country be peaceful, and that peace shall be the heritage of his children; he is willing to sacrifice present peace, but only to resist aggression or maintain the dignity of his nation.

The highest patriotism of course aligns him with the world's peace movement. His forefathers devoted their lives to the cause of liberty. By devoting his to the cause of peace he can not only do his nation but the whole world an inestimable service, and one that will advance the human race on its march toward perfect civilization farther than have all the achievements of all the warriors whose names are recorded in history.

For with peace will come assurance that the things that men do will count. Then will men work together to abolish poverty and disease, to eradicate suffering, to develop the resources of the earth, and to add to the knowledge and the intelligence of its peoples, knowing that no brutal and bloody war may in a year destroy all their work and force other devoted men to go back once more to the beginning. Then will that greatest of the Creator's gifts—the human brain—be developed to its highest, and man will at last be able to destroy the intended for him by his Maker, long before the creatures from which he has descended ever came up out of the sea to find a new and higher existence on the surface of the earth.

diars each warring savage warfare upon the other whenever the opportunity offered. For hatred, like other human passions, is deep-seated and endures long. And in minds untrained and uncivilized it can be handed down from one generation to another, and becomes so much of a tribal characteristic as the color of the skin or the shape of the head.

But the time has long passed when nations have any reason for hating one another sufficiently to go to war. Never was a greater war than that of the North and South. Never was bitterness so completely forgotten as it has been among the Americans who fought on both sides of that great struggle.

The name of Lincoln is as much honored in the South as in the North. The name of Lee is held in the same reverence in New England as it is in Virginia. And if the North and South, forgetting their differences, can unite to make a great and powerful and harmonious nation, surely the peoples of the countries of the world, with peace as the stake, can forget their differences and unite in an upward movement that no devastating struggle can ever check.

Among those who have actually undergone experience in war there is no difficulty in securing peace advocates. No man was more opposed to war than Robert E. Lee. No man ever described it more accurately than Sherman.

In Washington the men foremost in the Peace plan submitted by this newspaper are the veterans who fought for the South and the North. Mr. Hobson, accused of jingoism by his enemies because of his advocacy of an adequate navy, believes in peace because he knows what war means. In all the history of American arms is no more daring or heroic feat than that of Lincoln, when, believing that he was going to certain death, he begged for the opportunity to sink the collier Merrimack across the mouth of Santiago harbor.

But to a world-wide peace is necessary a world-wide unity. For one nation to lay down its arms while another maintained a great war establishment would be the height of folly. For any nation to declare that whatever happened it would never go to war would only invite attack and bullying by another nation and subject its people to incessant humiliation and misery.

There are agreements that must be reached and kept, arrangements that must be worked out to the minutest detail, before it will be wise to abolish the slightest degree the armaments of the world, or to throw any obstastroying their homes in an international or civil conflict.

The people of the United States have had all the war they want. Terrible years of struggle have taught them what war means. And to insure their children permanent peace they are now willing to undertake a campaign that, involving sacrifice of time, happiness and a vast outlay of money, shall not end until all nations live in harmony and war is as much a relic of barbarism as the stone hammer and the graven idol.

In the beginning, when the human brain was little better than the monkey brain—when the acquisition of food was the most important object of the human creature—men had to fight. They had to fight for their caves, fight for their food, fight for their very lives.

Wars were then conducted first between individuals, then between families. When families were gathered together into communities each community that enjoyed an advantage of location of food supply had to fight for it.

The days came when the communities became nations. War over food engendered race hatred, and race hatred was transmitted from one generation to another.

Nations grew up hating other nations. Instead of fighting for the very real reason that it was necessary to fight or have their dinners wrested from them, men began to fight because they hated one another.

And so, as men were spread over the surface of the earth, they divided into hostile tribes, which went to war whenever their members came into contact with the members of other tribes.

Had the white man never come to America it is probable that this continent would still be occupied by many warring tribes of Indiars means barbarity. The man who gets things by force—the right of might is farther from being civilized than any other human creature.

The community which is ruled by mob law where the criminal is the leading citizen, and the man who notches his gun every time he kills a fellow citizen is tolerated, is vanishing before they can be really called civilized.

But, men being what they are, cities have to maintain police forces to protect the peaceable citizen from the outlaw. And nations, being what they are, this country must maintain a navy to hold the respect of the other nations of the world and to protect its citizens against bandit nations that would make war upon it for their own advantage.

But the most earnest advocates of an efficient navy are the most earnest advocates of national and world-wide peace. It is the man with sufficient imagination to picture the horrors of war who urges upon Congress the necessity of a system of defense that will make war forever impossible in his country.

It has been the privilege of this newspaper to take an active part in the effort now in progress to bring the whole world to a realization of the atrocity of killing men and delight, 1910, by the Sunday American Journal Kaasler

Americans are justly proud of the history and the achievements of their country. It was America that taught the world the idiom of the divine right of kings idea—an idea that had held the world in subjection since the beginning of things.

Americans are proud of the War of the Revolution—proud of the brave, strong men who gave their talents and their lives for the cause of liberty. To lead the world to liberty tendous—a noble undertaking, the world to Peace—the task which y has now undertaken—will be a achievement. And in future ages looking back to this present century, abundant cause for pride in the air countrymen began the move-olished the barbarity of war and f all nations how to live without murder.

OTHEMAN STEVENS
IN COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE

EDITOR'S NOTE.—It has been the habit with recent writers on Mexico to allow their imagination to run riot when talking upon the retirement of Diaz from the Presidency. Many glib have been filled with prophecies of lurid possibilities, following as if at event all based upon the premise that Diaz, being an autocrat, has used his power to no better purpose than to oppress the people. Government that depends upon him for its continuance. The voice of the Latin is counted upon to break the bounds of long years of reaction and to give the people a free reign. But no such thing. The old people are entertained by the old nation-broker in our sister republic. He has known his people the advantages of peace—sterily, if you like, and not always with justice to the individual, but with the national well-being as his justification. Now, he declares, that the people are to have a free reign. He will not permit them to continue a lawless and re-strained nation. Incidentally Mr. Stevens, who was sent to Mexico by the Cosmopolitan Magazine, had from him a denial that there is any oppression within his borders or that any people are looking for a political revolution. These facts. These facts are related to the development of the school and the small farm, are told in the following article.

"There is no such thing in Mexico as the porridge that has been described as existing in this country," he replied. "I do not know of any man who has been in the night, and has stolen his horse for the task of being the administrator of the nation."

"The presentation of views and deductions I have given in this and other articles is not from the point of view of an apostle for Mexico. She needs no apostle."

The People's Money. Professor Thorne's position is no other than that of the majority of the laboring people. With the vast industrial resources of this country, the nation has the power to produce the necessities of life for all its people. But the few capitalists who own the means of production have so arranged the system of exchange that the vast majority of the people are unable to obtain the necessities of life. The result is that the vast majority of the people are forced to work for the few capitalists who own the means of production. This is the cause of the poverty and suffering of the vast majority of the people. The only way to solve this problem is to abolish the capitalist system and to establish a system of social ownership and distribution of the means of production. This is the only way to ensure that the necessities of life are available to all the people.

and the black was believed by history to have been constructed by white men. The system of public instruction created the Spanish American, a man of free culture who was the least primitive depicted, resulting from his "race spirit" and "cultural inheritance." The system of education, which, while more limited in its function than our own, is a significant tool of the dominant white society.

children, for these are so far as we are concerned, the chance to rise and to rise we have throughout the Republic that this is in one generation can be seen, I conclude.

Now, I don't think it is because, as early as they form his state education and they have wisely bent their most direct toward primary education, although higher branches of study where it is the moment this came to his own when our politicians slavishly call common people," but whom Lincoln actually termed "the plain people" have his particular fostering care, for it is not take a class to see that the hope is nation is that class of people who are the subject for public instruction

HERE'S THE PROOF.

Ms. W. II. HAWKINS, Frankfort, Ky., R.R. No. 2, writes: "I have used Sloan's Liniment for backache and sciatica with almost instant relief."

Mr. J. W. STEWART, 3216 Chapel St., Cincinnati, O., writes:—"I had suffered with sciatic rheumatism for 14 months when I began using Sloan's Liniment. I got relief at once, and am now entirely well."

These two social barometers—their addition of the ordinary man's studies; but the books were as happy as their work as a lot of bits in a pile, and showed a healthy physique as an ambition mentality.

Fervent, Zealous Type.

John Lee, the principal, I found of this fervent, zealous type of people, who, like the Hindu monk, were among those whom he found that I was chosen to work with. He was one of our countrymen about them he was serious and advanced over a measure school to give him a proper idea of scope. It was these that he brought the principles of morality and

AN interesting aspect of John D. Rockefeller's plan to give away two-thirds of his fortune is its effect on a certain baby.

That baby has often been spoken of as the billion-dollar baby because of the strong probability that his fortune would one day reach the stupendous amount of a billion dollars. Now it seems reasonably certain that the baby will never have that sum. He will have to get along with a few millions.

The baby is John D. Rockefeller, III, son of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., only son of the great John D. Rockefeller. It was assumed from various indications that Mr. Rockefeller, desiring to maintain his fortune as a money-making unit, would leave the bulk of it to his eldest son, with instructions to pass on the bulk again to his eldest son. This is the plan that has been followed by several of the richest families of America, notably by the Vanderbilts and Astors. It is generally agreed that the only hope of maintaining a great fortune as a permanent entity is to leave it to one heir, with control over it in the broadest sense to the utmost extent that the law permits. If a fortune be left to many heirs some will prove incapable, others wildly extravagant, and their diversity of interests and character will make it impossible to preserve the fortune as a progressive, money-making unit.

It has been estimated that John D. Rockefeller's fortune will reach the colossal total of $500,000,000 by the

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER'S COUNTRY SEAT AT TUXEDO PARK, NEW YORK.

The Maine As She Looks Today and On the Left a Diagrammatic View of the Proposed Caisson Or Coffin Dam Suggested As One Plan for Raising the Wreck.

Engineers, Divers and Expert Wreckers Puzzled to Decide How to Lift the Skeleton of the Sunken Battleship from the Bottom of Havana Harbor.

ANOTHER attempt to be made to raise what is left of the battleship Maine, whose wrecking caused the Spanish-American war, and lost to Spain her colonies in the New World. The skeleton of the ship has remained in the Havana harbor ever since the explosion that sunk her. At high tide all that is seen of her is the turret, but at low tide much of her crumpled superstructure is visible. The wreck is a menace to navigation. The raising of the Maine presents one of the most difficult problems engineers, divers and expert wreckers have ever had to face. If it were a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

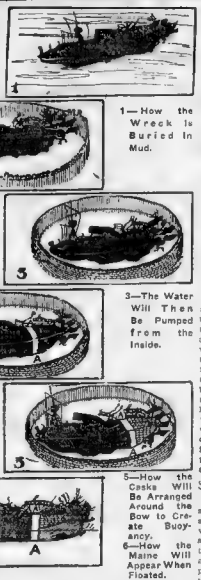

But the Maine is a Republic still, and the skeleton of the battle ship is a monument, and there are those who believe that the wreck should be raised. The raising of the wreck is a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

But the Maine is a Republic still, and the skeleton of the battle ship is a monument, and there are those who believe that the wreck should be raised. The raising of the wreck is a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

The problem of raising the wreck of the Maine is a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

A very large portion of the hull, curiously enough, still remains intact. The force which sank the battleship, although it was confirmed by the fact that a small part of it, the turret, was left standing, had a disintegrating effect, but the Maine was not broken into many pieces. The wreck is a monument, and there are those who believe that the wreck should be raised. The raising of the wreck is a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

Subsequently the Government made other contracts with private wreckers for the raising of the Maine, but after more than a year each enterprise was eventually abandoned.

One of the reasons for the failure of the wreckers was the fact that the hull of the wrecked vessel is firmly embedded in the bottom of the harbor. The raising of the wreck is a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

The problem of raising the wreck of the Maine is a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

The wreck is a monument, and there are those who believe that the wreck should be raised. The raising of the wreck is a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

Subsequently the Government made other contracts with private wreckers for the raising of the Maine, but after more than a year each enterprise was eventually abandoned.

To accomplish that feat, Mr. Richardson decided to sink two caissons up to 11,000 tons of steel, each 100 feet in diameter, from directly opposite sides of the wreck and vent the slugs and from going under the tub and making way for the water to flow. These tubes, each section of which is to be about twelve feet long, are to be used as hydrants, through which a powerful jet of water is to be forced from the pumps. In the beginning the tubes would be just long enough to reach the bottom, where the heavy stream of water would quickly force away the soft mud. As the water dug its way into the mud the tubes would be extended by the addition of other lengths, and so on until the keel was reached.

The two tubes working from opposite sides would meet in the shape of a V beneath the keel of the ship, and would it together there to form a V-shaped tub extending from one side to the other. When the tubes had met and had been lashed together, the pumps on one side only would continue to force a stream right through the tub down one side under the keel and up the other side of the wreck. Then a wooden or rubber ball, fitted snugly into the tube and attached to a long rope, would be inserted and drawn through by the force of the water. This cord would be used for drawing through a rope which in turn would haul a strong wire cable through the tube.

The process would have to be repeated until all cables had been strung under the vessel's keel from bow to stern. The ends of the cables would then be attached to a system of levers, arms, resting on hydraulic jacks. The hydraulic jacks, working in harmony, would gradually draw the cables taut and slowly and steadily raise the Maine from its muddy bed until one stood high in the water again.

Once the vessel had been raised to the desired height, immovable air-lift cables would be attached to it to buoy it up. It was calculated that enough could be utilized in the manner to sustain the heaviest battleship ever built. Unfortunately, however, Mr. Richardson never had a full opportunity to put his ingenious plan to the test, and the Maine was left to rot in the mud of the harbor. The raising of the wreck is a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

Subsequently the Government made other contracts with private wreckers for the raising of the Maine, but after more than a year each enterprise was eventually abandoned.

On these plans the work was started and the construction of the huge coffin dam began, but, after spending considerable money on the enterprise and laboring for several weeks, the engineers in charge of the work gave it up, and once again the Maine and the remains of the sailors whose tomb it forms were left to the tender mercies of the sharks and the thick, slimy mud.

But now Uncle Sam has taken off his coat and is going to set to work himself to see if he cannot succeed where others have failed.

While the new bill provides that the work shall be done by the engineering corps of the navy, the engineers from the plan suggested by private contractors, and the work of the army men will be considerably facilitated because of the navy men's experience with the work, suggested at one time or another by patriotic citizens.

It is quite reasonable how many suggestions the government has received as to ways of recovering the bulk. Naturally, any catastrophe which stirred so mightily the popular indignation could be depended upon to stir the national inventiveness. Unfortunately, a very small part of the suggestions have any practical value whatever. One scheme wanted to dispose of the whole question by building a causeway clear out from the shore to the wreck. The Maine was to be pulled out of the mud by the causeway, which was to be converted into a pier to which admission was to be charged. The inventor was a contractor for the construction of a new battleship for the navy. Naturally no attention was paid to it.

John Arbuckle, the well-known coffee and sugar king, who played cards as a hobby and who floated the cruiser Tanios from Manila back after every one else had abandoned the effort, was the only one in the neighborhood who suggested a plan for raising the wreck with the Government for money. The plan is the hope of being given an opportunity to raise the Maine. Whether or not the plan will be carried out, it is not known, but the method has been used in the various successful efforts will undoubtedly be followed.

Mr. Arbuckle used compressed air, and though the former said that, as a matter of fact, the method was successful in floating it.

Compressed air will probably be used by the army engineers in connection with other methods. It would be of the air, the water is forced out of the hold and a right compartment and bulkheads are repaired. Plans are temporarily replaced and the whole vessel is eventually made buoyant. The mud in which the Maine lies now imbedded would have to be removed before the ship could float.

But perhaps another method, also suggested by John Arbuckle, may be resorted to—the electro-magnet. The advantage of this plan would be that it would be quite unnecessary to make the Maine watertight all-night before raising it. Nor would it be necessary to remove the ooze in which the ship has sunk.

The electro-magnet has been used to pick up steel fragments or has been used to lift a ship, but it has never been used on so heavy an object as the Maine. The plan is to use a magnet to lift the wreck, and if it had, the result would be to tear out the plates of the ship wherever the magnet touched. The plan is to use a magnet to lift the wreck, and if it had, the result would be to tear out the plates of the ship wherever the magnet touched.

The Government has made three different contracts with private wrecking concerns for the raising of the Maine, but all of them have been abandoned. The raising of the wreck is a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

The problem of raising the wreck of the Maine is a question of getting rid of the vessel that would be easy—for heavy charges of dynamite would do the business.

A very large portion of the hull, curiously enough, still remains intact. The force which sank the battleship, although it was confirmed by the fact that a small part of it, the turret, was left standing, had a disintegrating effect, but the Maine was not broken into many pieces. The wreck is a monument, and there are those who believe that the wreck should be raised. Subsequently the Government made other contracts with private wreckers for the raising of the Maine, but after more than a year each enterprise was eventually abandoned.

The plan is to use a magnet to lift the wreck, and if it had, the result would be to tear out the plates of the ship wherever the magnet touched.

Diagram Showing the Main Divisions of the Body and Their Proportions, Which Enable One to Depict the Figure in Any Position.

On the page are shown illustrations of an ingenious new system of drawing human figures in action—a German system formulated and taught in booklets issued by J. P. Schaeffer, of Berlin, who is a first teacher of whom based on most of the sketches.

A method of teaching drawing is to be used in the school with the most perfect instruction in all the arts. There are certain features of the human body which are to be drawn in a simple and direct manner, and the student is to be taught to draw the figure in any position.

The student is required to draw the figure of a man, and then to draw him in a variety of poses, such as walking, running, jumping, etc. The student is to be taught to draw the figure in a simple and direct manner, and the student is to be taught to draw the figure in any position.

Three Figures in Action Which Have Been Built Up from the Single Line Drawing.

How can you reach the characteristics of the human figure? Think it over. Look upon how children go to work to make a snow man. First the single parts are rolled out of snow—the head, the body, and the limbs. Now for the head. The head is to be drawn in a simple and direct manner, and the student is to be taught to draw the head in any position.
